BETHEL RED SOX

On Monday, June 25, the Red Sox traveled to West Paris. The Red Sox lost 4-3 in one of the best games of the season. Brandon Salway had six strikeouts and gave up only two walks. His came from Perry Hart, Ken Whitney, Shawn Smith, Andy Wheeler, Scott Brown, and Andy Moffett.

On Wednesday, June 27, Rumford Point played at Bethel.

The Red Sox lost their second game of the week by one run, 10-9. Shawn Smith pitched and had nine strikeouts and went 1-2 at the plate. Brandon Salway went 2-2 with two home runs, a three run homer and a solo homer. Kevin Van Buren went 2-3 in his last game. Good luck Ken. The team wishes you the best. Ken Whitney went 1-3.

Highway Department crews completed repair work on the Chapman Brook Bridge this week. Next week crews will be preparing for tarring which will be started during the week of July 23.

The Planning Board will meet downstairs in the Bethel Savings Bank this Thursday evening, July 12, at 7 o'clock to talk with representatives of the Androscoggin Valley Regional Planning Commission. The topic will be subdivision regulations for the Town. The Board is presently revising current regulations in line with a recommendation of the Comprehensive Plan.

The Board of Selectmen met in special session Monday, July 9. The Board awarded the bid for a 5/7 yard body to the W. A. Messer Co. based on their low bid of $3,078. Other bids received included: Truck Equipment Co., $3,295; Hews Body Co., $3,425; Hews Body Co., $3,475; and Me. Diesel Equipment Co., $4,425. A renewal of a gravel pit lease with A. L. LaBrecque was signed.

Most of the meeting was spent discussing the work of the Municipal Facilities Committee and various problems and alternatives that have come to the attention of the Committee. The Board took no action regarding these matters and directed the Town Manager and George Allen to develop recommendations for the Board's consideration.

The Town filed 81 tax liens with the Registry of Deeds today. This is about the same number that were filed in 1978. In 1979 these liens total $20,234.76 and in 1978 they totaled $20,824.90.

Everyone is invited to take an active part in this worthwhile class. Summer visitors are especially welcome to join the class. The cost for the eight hour instruction is $3 which covers course materials.

Princess Mollycokett will also be presented with a $25 U. S. Savings Bond by the Bethel Lions Club.

BETHEL RIFLE GUARD TO MEET JULY 18

The July meeting of the Bethel Rifle Guard will be held July 18 at 6:30 p. m. at the rifle range on Route 2.

DENISON'S PLAN GRAND OPENING OF NEW MAIN STREET SHOP

The Bethel Chamber of Commerce welcomes another retail business to Main Street. Denison's, a shop already busy selling mopeds and books, will have its grand opening on Saturday, July 14, starting at 9 a. m. with a ribbon cutting ceremony. Moped business has been brisk; so brisk that a full week before the grand opening 80% of the initial stock has been sold. Other events for the public grand opening day will be a special drawing for gift certificates from a number of other local businesses and Bethel's newest author, Sue Farrar, will be on hand during the day to autograph copies of her book, "Samantha on Stage."

Denison's used to be Sunri's Main Street store. Inside the store where Sunri had sportswear and equipment, Denison's has book racks with over 1,800 titles in stock, cassettes and 8-track tapes, plus what promises to be the largest collection of books in the area.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS AT MIDDLE INTERVALE MEETING HOUSE

The monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society focusing on Middle Intervale history was the featured topic Thursday evening, July 5, at the Middle Intervale Meeting House, the town's oldest surviving church built in 1816. A picnic preceded the meeting attended by nearly 75 persons.

Speaker of the evening was Rebecca Carter Bailey who grew up in Middle Intervale and prefaced her remarks by stating it was characteristic of that region to disagree on its history. Mrs. Bailey then provided a humorous talk about the region's history.

ALBANY CAMP FIRE FATAL TO MASSACHUSETTS MAN

Burns received in an explosion and fire at Camp Nygren in Albany early Monday evening were fatal as Henry Nygren of Lynn, Mass., died at the Maine Medical Center, Portland, Tuesday morning. He was taken to the Medical Center by the Bethel Emergency Ambulance and Rescue Team.

Bethel and Waterford fire departments responded to the fire that gutted the kitchen, dining area and office complex. The explosion occurred as Mr. Nygren was filling the fuel tank to a gas powered generator in an annex to the dining hall complex. The evening meal had just started as flames enveloped the eastern end of the building.

There were 24 children at the camp which worked with children with living disabilities and those with exceptional talents in various fields.

The children's parents were notified of the fire Monday evening and by noon Tuesday, parents had picked up the last camper and returned home. No future plans for the camp are known as Mrs. Nygren has returned to Lynn, Mass. There is no estimate of loss available at this time.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Today I went where the cat birds sing and shared the hours with the azure sky. It was cool and refreshing. I watched the daisies sway on the hill as the wind ran by. They were golden-eyed and angel-leaved and seemed to hold all the fullness of summer. Most of the time the sun was all around as yellow as the daisy eye. Clouds seem to be small explosions in the never-never land of endless blue hues. They become a flock of sheep being herded quietly by.

It had been weeks since I had traveled the road and what a change! I could hardly believe that Joe-Pye-Weed is coming into bloom.

To walk a summer road is grand, it saturates the heart with strength and gentle harmony. That it so well imparts."

Craig E. Sathoff
The roadsides now are like a patchwork of colors rich and gay. Crimson sorrel, purple clover, vetch, buttercups, blooming in profusion.

From many a corner the brown eyed Susans were laughing; having a happy summer carnival in company with the yellow lilacs and the sweet scented milk weed. They revel in these long days of blazing sunlight, now veritable among other flowers. They first came to us with clover-seed from the West. Most farmers do not find them acceptable guests.

I turned from the road to the Diamond Ledge. The trail into the woods. This I followed for some distance listening to the trees rustling and squeaking.

When I left the trail I went directly to the left through the trees with no path to follow.

Near a creek I found one of the less noticed plants which border the woods. This was the white avens. I noticed it because of its round burr-like heads; now that its petals are gone.

I crossed the creek where I also saw the remains of my Jack-in-the-pulpit. The tiny little preachers were no longer settled in their pulpits. Just the leaves and stems were there and the berries to develop soon.

I came to a meadow along the edge of the forest on an abandoned farm. A meadow is full of activity. Birds nest in the feathery grass, insects go about their work, and we can "see" the wind for flowers and grasses catch it and toss it back and forth. It was the swaying that held my eyes on a tall clump of grass, so tall that I took a stalk home. As I carried it along the road I'm sure the people I met thought I had a fish pole. It measured 82 inches. Along its stem there were but five blades of grass and at the top a head of seeds. Clyde called it Canary grass or cultivated blue joint. He said, "It's no good. I hope it doesn't grow here."

In other words, "Don't scatter its seeds."

A meadow may be large or small, as long as it has a stretch in the sun, unmowed, high or low, wet or dry, rocky or smooth, but has flowers for every situation.

A meadow in early morning is sparkling with dew that brings out the wet growing scent of a summer day; a dew that hangs heavy with fragrance which remains all day. I presume the perfume is heaviest on a warm night.

The breeze was strong as I came back up the road.

Reid Crowell describes my day much better than I can in her/his poem "A Day of Quietude."

"It would not be all amies if we took one whole day to live deliberately."

To leave the ceaseless whirl and seek a lane and walk its peaceful, shadowed length again.

With thoughts attuned to nature's growing things,

To hear the feathered whirr of thrushes wings.

To stand in silence by a curving stream,

Unruffled by a vague or fretful scheme;

To harken to the whisper of the grass.

As over it the playful breezes pass.

We would face the days ahead in better mood for living one bright day in quietude."

Wendy Hall remained for another week to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Glover and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Meisner. 28

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Reed, Enfield, Conn., spent last week at their camp on South Arm Road and visiting relatives in the area. 28

A family gathering was held July 5 at the Orville Meisner camp on Howard Pond, Hanover. Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Hall and children, Ashburnham, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Reed, Enfield, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Brooks and children, Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. Marian August, Mexico; Gary Meisner, Augusta; and Mrs. Howard Glover and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Meisner. All of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Glover's children and grandchildren were present but one, Miss Dale Reed, who was unable to attend. 28

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hayward and children of Newton, N.H., were over night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Emerson Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hall. 28

Mrs. Eva Bodwell and Allen were in Kittery over the week end to visit her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hilton and family. 28

The Andover Friday Club held a special meeting Thursday, July 5 at the home of Mrs. Ann Fox. Business was discussed on the book "Andover the first 175 Years." Plans were made for the Annual Flower Show to be held Aug. 5 at the Christian Education Building. Fifteen members and one guest were present. We are having very cold weather in Maine. It has been around 42° in the morning most of the week. This weather is not very conducive for growth of our gardens. est assortment of cards in town. The book section has a "Maine books" department that currently displays 48 different editions ranging from Maine cookery to philosophy.

There are two aspects of the store's pricing and operations which should be of special interest to area shoppers:

Record album selections cover a range from current pop to the classics. Among the stock one finds Count Basie, Barbara Streisand, Linda Ronstadt and sound tracks from movies such as "The Way We Were."

The second item of interest is located near the cash register. It is a microfiche reader. What for? Special orders. The store has right now over 30,000 book titles on microfiche and expects to have up to 10 million titles in the listings. Each listing indicates the book's availability, hard or soft bound and cost. So if you don't find the book that you are looking for, ask and Denison's can order the book for you.

COMMUNITY GASOLINE MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

The Maine Office of Energy Resources and the Maine Publicity Bureau have asked the local chamber of commerce to initiate a Bethel area coordination of gasoline availability reporting. Many have already read about it on the radio. The program has a goal of managing shortages and providing some gasoline for week end travel.

The Maine OER guidelines for program implementation are as follows:

—Establish a target number of stations that need to be open on week ends to ensure that local needs are met.

—To better manage and stretch supplies retailers are encouraged to implement the following measures:

—Set a daily gasoline sales limit, based on the retailers' total gasoline allocation for the month divided by the number of days that the retail outlet expects to operate during the month.

—Do not exceed this daily limit except under emergency conditions.

—Establish hours of operation which are clearly displayed and publicized. (Note: the Chamber's weekly report should accomplish this requirement.)

—Coordinate hours of operation with other retailers to assure that gasoline outlets are open throughout the week. Week end opening hours should be scheduled on a rotating basis so that the burden is equally shared. (Note: The chamber feels that a sufficient number of stations are already open or would be open if gasoline was available to accomplish this part of the plan.)

—Use a flag system (red: closed pumps; yellow: no-lead pumps closed; green: gas is being sold). If flags are not used then a sign should be displayed clearly indicating whether or not pumps are open.

The Chamber's part in this program:

—Member and non-member stations will be surveyed as to hours and week end operation.

—The chamber secretary will report stations that are planning to be open on Friday, Saturday and Sunday to OER.

—The chamber will answer any questions that they can. Louise Lincoln is the secretary; tel: 824-2346. The alternate Bethel area point of contact is the Community Education-Work Council office; tel: 824-2538, Mon.-Fri., 8-4:30.

Eveline Barrett, Corres.
I hope everyone at the beach had a lovely day, July 4. I also hope they took their fur coat along.

A surprise at the anniversary party at Big Rock, July 1, was fresh new peas, picked by Maynard Emery, 80 years young, of Mechanic Falls, in the pouring rain. Everyone likes peas with baked ham.

We had our fill of thunder showers. It rained so hard, it didn't have a chance to soak into the ground. It all ran down street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Lawrence, Eveline Barrett, went to have supper July 4 with Sharon, Jenny Schert, Richard and Barbara Felt, Mrs. Agnes Coffin, Milton; Millett, Marie and Thomas Coffin, Rumford, were also present. Eddie Hebert also. All were glad to wear their winter jackets.

Mrs. Roberta Tripp has employment at Penley Corp.

Ledgeview had a beautiful day for their strawberry festival July 8. I brought home two pieces of superb strawberry pie.

Callers at Lawrence's: Joe, Laura Kalinowski, Herman, Thelma Card, Dale, Sandra, Jeff, Jimbo Coffin, Stevie Millett, Sharon Schert, and Jennie, Eveline Barrett.

The West Paris Firemen's Auxiliary cleared $301 from the benefit supper for the Lowe family. It was a fine supper.

Wedding bells were ringing July 7 for two young couples. More details next week.

Winthrop Conley Jr. has been having all the week on his farm and Phil Hyam's. Good weather for it.

SENIOR CITIZENS MENU
Monday, July 16: Beef noodle casserole, buttered carrots, assorted puddings with fruits.

YMCA UPDATE

A lot of people are asking "how's the 'Y' progressing?" and the response is "cautiously!" Doug Reed from the Maine State "Y" in Waterville met with 12 community members on June 27 to discuss further what it would mean to have a "Y" in this area. What has been learned thus far is that it is the financial responsibility of the towns in the area to provide the funds to have a "Y". Also a "Y" can be whatever the people want — a group called the "Y" committee gets together and decides what the needs are and how they're going to provide for those needs in terms of money, personnel (mainly volunteers) — all of you out there with time on your hands and want to be productive people!!!, facilities, etc.

Doug's advice is to move slowly and deliberately in order to come up with a meaningful and useful program. He says "what good's a nice building that you can't be able to get federally funded if you don't have a competent person to coordinate activities." So priorities have to be set and money put to effective use.

This area is in the pregnancy stage of getting a "Y" and support is needed from everyone. So far only Bethel people have attended the meetings. How can this be a Bryant Pond, Locke Mills, West Bethel, Albany, Andover, Hanover, Newry, etc. effort if you people aren't here. If you'd prefer, future meetings could be scheduled in other towns — just speak up — please!!! Call Lyn Bristol at 824-2233, or Barb Wilson, 875-3992.

Mark your calendars for the next meeting on Tuesday, July 24, at 6:30 p. m. at the Wherehouse. Bring your kids, too!

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

out various families of Middle Intervale. She also provided some of the history of the meeting house and common history of her ancestor, Dr. Timothy Carter, who built the brick end house across the way in 1816.

Middle Intervale was once the center of Bethel with the first town meeting being held here in 1796. It was also the center of business and commerce until the railroad passed through Bethel Hill in 1851 and forever the town's demography.

The meeting house was long associated with both the Methodists and Baptists but after 1958 the Baptists gained sole ownership when the Methodists moved to Bethel Hill. Town meetings were also held in this meeting house as well as other gatherings. In recent years, the building has been vacant and neglected but in the fall of 1978 a Society to preserve and restore it was established.

There existed considerable rivalry between the east (Middle Intervale) and west (Bethel Hill) parishes and threats of secession by either parish were not unusual. During this period the populations were relatively equal but with the advent of the railroad all this changed. By 1870, the town hall built on the Middle Intervale side of the parish line in 1840 had been torn down. Soon to disappear were the once thriving potash and cheese factories, harness shop and stores.

Also gone were some of the early families: Pote, Oliver, Beattie and Shaw. However other families had more staying power: Abbott, Anas, Buck, Capen, Carter, Chase, Farwell, Holt, Kimball, Osgood, Kendall, Sanborn, Stanley, Stevens, Russell and Swan. Some of these families still claim descendants living in Middle Intervale today.

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —

Another moose was hit and killed in Grafton last week end. A car parked in the area was hit and before the police arrived, another vehicle did not stop in time and ran over the dead moose, swerving his vehicle so it smacked another. Some of the people received minor injury, one vehicle was extensively damaged. It would be nice if the Fish and Game Dept. which is so concerned about these animals that they don't want an open season, would work more agreeably with the Highway Dept. which does very little to preserve them. There is one sign, not very noticeable which states "Moose Crossing." No glaring danger sign, or large, Slow, Danger, sign at EACH end of this strip. If the animals are going to be depleted, better do it quickly with a bullet, rather than so painfully to the animal and devastating to humans and property.

Rev. Edgar and Ruth (Jenkins) Bailey and friends from Portland, camped during the week end on Heritage Farm. Fr. Bailey preached a Sunday afternoon service in the Union Church to a small but appreciative group. Ruth commented that although she is a native and Ed preached in the Episcopal Church in Rangeley for several years, he had never been invited to fill this pulpit. However, he was invited to return before heading South-time and the suggestion was seconded by all present. Several members of the Bernier family were in town Saturday to help pour cement for the garage.

on Back Street. Since the equipment balked we did only half the floor and that took until 10 p. m. A fair sized group attended and enjoyed the performance of "Alice in Wonderland" at the church Saturday evening.

Warden Berry was in town with some lemon twine which is used to deter deer from eating gardens.

We are hoping for rain. When it does, anyone who calls it lousy weather deserves to pay higher food prices.

Casco Bank: new rules on savings not enough

By FRANK SLEEPER
Staff Writer

Casco Bank & Trust Co., the state's largest commercial bank in terms of deposits, will take advantage of the new federal savings regulations going into effect July 1 but maintains they "do not go far enough."

While offering the new savings rates and services, Casco also is using newspaper ads and statement inserts to urge Maine people to write their congressmen in order to lift the interest rate ceilings on regular savings above the 5 1/4 percent allowed by law.

"Being Maine's largest commercial bank means we have the most deposits," John M. Daigle, Casco president, pointed out.

"We feel we owe something to our customers who put those dollars into our care . . . and that's why we're fighting so hard to get those interest rate ceilings lifted. Five-and-a-quarter percent just isn't enough in these inflationary times."

The new regulations, raising interest on regular savings by only 0.25 percent, "really don't do much for the small saver," according to Casco ads.

Even under the revised laws, people with less than $10,000 are limited to interest of 5 1/4 percent or, at most, 5 1/2 percent, unless they want to tie up their money for one or two years or longer.

Casco advocates elimination of rate ceilings on an orderly but definite schedule. This is much like the proposal recently made in Congress by Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Alan D. Cranston, D-Calif., to gradually increase the top limit on interest rates for small savers.

"Instead of a law that controls the amount of interest we can pay you, there ought to be a law that allows banks to compete for your savings," the ads say.

As of July 1, Casco will begin to pay 5 1/4 percent on regular and passbook savings accounts, reduce interest penalties for premature withdrawal from certificates of deposit, and lower its minimum deposit requirements for all certificates of deposit to $500.

In addition, Casco will offer a four-year "Treasury Securities" certificate of deposit paying interest 1 1/4 percent below the average four-year securities rate.

Other banks in the area will be doing the same. In July 1978 Casco became the first and thus far the only bank to find a way to permit savers with less than $10,000 in available funds to buy a six-month "Money Market" certificate of deposit.

That controversial "Loophole" program, which finally won grudging approval from regulators, allows customers to borrow the needed funds, buy the "Money Market" certificates and end up with a net return on funds provided that is considerably higher than regular savings rates on short-term deposits.

Northwest Bethel - Sunday River

Clarice Gibson, Corres.

We have had the 4th of July come and go and they reported spitting snow on Mt. Washington that week. Yesterday, however, the weather had changed hot again. We do need rain again Sunday.

We intended to go out for dinner to celebrate Ira's birthday, the 3rd, and mine the 10th. About 10:30 the water started running slower and slower so Frank went all around trying to find the source. The pump house is on one side of the road and the house is on the other side and they finally discovered it was under the road. They had to dig up the tar with a pickaxe and fix it. By this time with time out for dinner, it was three o'clock. This is why when the children were small I'd always tell them if nothing comes up, life is full of little surprises.

Edie Smith will be on vacation from her job this week also.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith and Andy went to the Chicken Coop July 3 in observance of their 27th anniversary and after that went to Lewiston for fireworks. Saturday night the Smiths went to Kentucky Fried Chicken and then took a ride through 13 mile woods and came back through East B Hill Road.

Mrs. Lester Butters went to the hospital the last day of June and Mr. and Mrs. Alden MacDougal went with her. She came home the 5th of July after being in intensive care for four days. She will have to take it easy.

Quite a few from here attended the horse show in Dixfield Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason, Carole and Melinda, Benjamin Gordon, Dwayne Murphy and Vince Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapman. Carole and Melinda came home with 13 ribbons and Carole came home champion of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Seames and two children went. Jody rode Seames horse, Okie, and won fourth place in 3-legged race. Jody also came in first in a soda and cracker race. Dawn Seames won fourth place in lead line with the horse, Okie. Dawn won first place in costume parade riding Ersel. Ersel is the Seames' latest acquired addition and is a donkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shumamura rode up later in the afternoon. Betty Blake and Alberta Angevine rode to Dixfield where they got their mother, Mrs. Rena Abbott and took her to the show.

Fourth of July Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason III, two children and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Morgan, Greenwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason, and two children and Brenda McGuin went to Santa's Village. They took a picnic but reported it was cold for that time of year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benson went to their daughter's and family. Mr. and Mrs. Davis Kimball and two daughters on July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hannon spent most of last week visiting their parents in Durham and Portsmouth, N.H.

A hazy warm Monday morning—real warm and yes, getting dry again. July 4 has come and gone but how nice it was to celebrate it the day it was due and not three or four days ahead. Now if they will set the time at one place and let it alone and celebrate other holidays when they are due it will seem more as if the world was not all upside down.

A phone call from Darnita and Edwidge Yates July 8, saying they were having a grand time and leaving Florida today to go to Oklahoma where an aunt lives.

Helen Rannels has been substituting as bookkeeper at the Thurston Mill recently. She worked for them several years before she retired.

Laura Hutchins, Merna Allen of Andover, in company with Russell and Eva Yates, went to East Haddon for strawberries Saturday, only to find the fields all closed. After such a distance it didn't make them very happy.

Marion Kimball and Ivy Bartlett called on the Clayton Blake's Sunday night.

Reports are that there is a new baby horse at Linda Harrington's. There's nothing cuter!

There's lots of goings and comings on the river but I don't know what, why or how to keep smiling. snow will soon be flying.

Cole, Bethel, who spent Sunday and Monday night with Kristy, July 1, 2, 3. Kristy spent at Susan Cole's home.

Saturday night the Seames took their son, Ryan, to the outpatient at the hospital as he was running a high fever.

Sunday, Franklin played ball in Baldwin. His team won. Wednesday, the 4th, the Barton family went to the home of Fran and Larry Parsons in Brownfield, for a cook-out.

Sure was surprised how much the gardens had grown when we got home. Of course the weeds had grown the most and we are busy trying to pull them all out.

My folks, Mr. and Mrs. LeForest Twitchell and Aunt Kay and Uncle Bill called one evening.

My aunt Mrs. Dorothea Hooper is a patient at the Norway Nursing Home. I'm sure she would appreciate visits and cards from her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus McAllister camped in our picnic area Saturday.

Albany HUNT'S CORNER

Kathy Bennett, Corres.

Hello, everyone! It is nice to be back after a very fine vacation at my aunt's cottage in Ocean Park. My sister-in-law, Jane Twitchell and children, joined the boys and I there. Now back to Albany and lots of work!

Thursday night, which is tonight, July 12, the first supper of the summer will be held at the Albany Congregational Church. There will be a flea market and the United Parish Church sale will be held also.

Callers at the Wardwell's this last week have been Mr. and Mrs. B. Wentworth, Jeff Hooker, Helen and Linwood Ring, Donna King and Jonathan Glines, Edith and Harris Hathaway and Elsie Ames.

The 4th of July this year was a very memorable time for Sarah Andrews. It seems the 4th is Sarah's birthday, so this year her family gave her a huge birthday party at the Andrews camp in Poland. There were over 50 guests present. Sarah said she never saw so much food! She had a lobster which really hit the spot. We all wish you belated birthday happiness, Sarah, may you enjoy many more.

Haying time at the Barton Farm means everyone is very busy, but never too busy to stop and talk to a friend. Callers there last week were Margaret Jacobs of East Main; Don and Joan Leino and children, Roger and Yvette Barton and children, Frank Barton Sr., Bernard and Alice Graffam. Sunday, Franklin played ball in Baldwin. His team won. Wednesday, the 4th, the Barton family went to the home of Fran and Larry Parsons in Brownfield, for a cook-out.

Sure was surprised how much the gardens had grown when we got home. Of course the weeds had grown the most and we are busy trying to pull them all out.

Earl had a phone call early Saturday morning from Renee Rosenberg Ronco. She says she is living in Albany, N. Y., and is working in a nursing home there.

Saturday forenoon, Earl took Carl and Brian on the Zephyr Monorail ride at Mt. Abram. In the afternoon, we all rode the train powered by the steam locomotive #47 on the Conway Scenic Railroad from North Conway to Conway and back. Carl had made the trip with the rest of the third grade class in June but enjoyed it just as much the second time around. We ate supper at Pizza Hut and I overheard one little girl say, "this makes goose bumps on my tongue!" I knew just what she meant.

You'd think the way the weather has been fouled up the last few weeks that it was being run by the government.

of Albany were two of the dinner guests. Mrs. Charles has beautiful flowers and all kinds of plants. He is just across the road to the pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanwood Nelson attended a cook out and birthday dinner at the home of her niece, Mrs. Nancy Bryan, in North Conway, July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Stearns and little son, Eric, of Portland, visited his mother, Betty Stearns, over the week end. Her son, Wayne and family of Naples, joined them for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennie Gordon of Aurora visited her mother, Mrs. Agnes Files, Saturday and Sunday.

Carol Buck is having dormer windows put in upstairs on the back side.

Dwight Grover and wife are spending most of their time at their camp on Whitney Pond.

Traffic was heavy through here Sunday. Everyone seemed to have plenty of gas and were enjoying riding once more.

ANDOVER CHURCH FAIR ON SATURDAY, JULY 14

The Ladies Aid of the Congregational Church will hold its annual "Country Church Summer Fair" Saturday, July 14, in the Christian Education Building, from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. A salad plate lunch will be served from 11:30.

Many talented Andover women have been busy these past few weeks sewing, knitting and creating for the various tables of the fair.

Some of the best cooks will stock the Country Cupboard food table with delicious home-baked "goodies."

Children, of all ages, naturally gravitate to the soft, cuddly creatures on the Toyland table. Adults will want to browse at the Household Boutique or through the "attractive treasures." Hand-made crafts and gift items will be featured at the Christmas in July table as well as ornaments.

It's not too early to think of winter, and the Knitting Nook offers hand-made mittens, sweaters, and socks needed to ward off the cold.

Mrs. Eldora Jones, Ladies Aid president, is co-ordinating the final preparations for the fair.

OLD FASHIONED PICNIC TO BE HELD AT ALBANY CHURCH SUNDAY, JULY 15

Representatives from the three churches of the Oxford County Parish will be in charge of arrangements. They are: Mrs. Charles Hamilton from the East Stoneham Church; Mrs. Ruth Kinsley, North Waterford; and Mrs. John Labbie, Albany.

Following the luncheon, games for the children will be under the direction of Mrs. Frederick Scribner.

A brief business meeting of the Oxford County Parish will be held in the sanctuary as the concluding event of the day. The entire program is planned to promote activities for the parish as a whole.

The new Parish pastor, Jeffrey Hooker, will be welcome.
